Modularity and compatibility

The Malik management programs, are designed in modules and are completely compatible with each other. The Malik Management Systems grow with the people, their careers, their organizations and their development phases.

Unity of concepts and language

Our referees and tutors utilize the same content and concepts; they follow the same logic and use the same language and identical terms.

Tempo and flexibility

High flexibility is a decisive advantage of the Malik e-management learning programs. The participants determine speed, location and time of their studies. At the same time the program requires active contribution to self guided learning.

Transfer

To transfer what has been learned, the participants solve special tasks in each module. You work on them with the help of provided materials and tools. Subsequently the tasks will be discussed in the forums of the learning platform. Moreover the participants receive feedback from the tutors.

Management Praxis Online – MPO® «Managing a Business»

A blended learning program for an effective management of corporate units

Wholistic General Management to master complexity. From regulation to self-regulation, from organizing to self-organization. Reliable functioning in the 21st century.
The perfect solution in times of crisis – whatever your trajectory.

What and why?

As an executive, you are responsible for the results of the organization or business units and make far reaching decisions every day. You guide meetings, conduct demanding negotiations, take care of the strategic direction and analyze key figures. In the face of increasing complexity of your everyday life you lack reliable guidelines, an overview that allows you to quickly identify the overall interrelationships between all the different tasks.

Result

You know the principles, tasks and tools of Good and Right Management, the basics of corporate strategy and financial management. You see how each covered topic is positioned in the Integrated Management System®. This enables you to stay on top of all the interrelationships in the context of your own organization.

What do you have to do?

Management Praxis Online combines online study, active learning in video conferences and remote-workshops. The program is designed to be done in spare time, thanks to online knowledge modules and complete online tutoring. You can work through the program as flexibly as you like, at any time and any location. Throughout the entire program you will be mentored by skilled tutors who will give you feedback on the state of your studies and implementation. Every module has extra tasks to challenge the transfer of the desired learning. You work through the tasks in the immediate context of your daily work. Subsequently the tasks are discussed in the forums of the learning platform. After passing the final exam you can choose to complete an optional certification exam.

How your progress will manifest itself

As a graduate of the program, you will master the Malik Integrated Management System (IMS®) and the principles of Good and Right Management. You are therefore able to effectively and professionally manage your business unit: you make the right decisions and know how to take advantage of the daily complexity in your organization without losing track.

For whom is this program designed?

Executives at all levels who want to gain a management education by optimal usage of modern e-learning technology with ubiquitous availability, yielding a more effective and more professional management. People who aim to increase their management competencies in the context of a systemic approach. People in all sorts of organizations: manufacturing, services, administration, banking, health-care, or education.

Additional seminar media

In addition, participants of the e-learning program receive Prof. Dr. Fredmund Malik's books «Management – the Essence of the Craft» and «Managing, Performing, Living – Effective Management for a New Era».
